Set Destination Data!

What does this mean and where do I do it?

If you receive this message it's because you have not completed the arrival information on the Arrival Perf page.

As a general rule we set this up before departure (varies depending on company procedures)

After completing your performance data click NEXT PHASE, continue to click NEXT PHASE until you come to the APPR (Approach Page) FIG2.

Once you have completed your Flight plan & Take-off performance page the FLP RETR F=, SLT RETR S=, CLEAN O= will be automatically be filled in, you don't need to know this information. FINAL is the approach runway and will be filled automatically once you complete your flight plan. If you decide not to put your approach runway into your flight plan that's ok, but you must update your flight plan with the approach runway once you receive the information from ATC.
